Aims
To sponsor Indigenous students in Years 11 and 12 who are studying WACE subjects to gain an ATAR score for university entry. The WACE Revision courses are run by external providers, and their objective is to increase student subject knowledge, study skills and preparation for exams.

Eligibility for WACE revision sponsorship
- Must be studying WACE subjects with a view to gaining an ATAR;
- Intend to study at UWA;
- Priority will be given to Year 12 students.

July sponsorship will include:
- WACE Revision Course fees and facilitation of bookings;
- Accommodation, travel and meal expenses;
- Supervision during the week;
- Airport pick-up and drop-off.

July residential camp
Students are expected to enroll in three subjects for WACE Revision, run by private providers nominated by the School of Indigenous Studies.
- Accommodation is provided;
- Students will also attend organised evening activities, including an Information Evening and a Leadership Dinner;
- Students will meet current UWA Indigenous students and graduates;
- All students need to arrive at accommodation on Sunday 10 July to be ready for classes starting on Monday 11 July;
- Apply online. Applications close Friday 3 June.

April and October courses
The School of Indigenous Studies may sponsor enrolment of students for the April and October holiday revision classes. Please note that no accommodation or travel assistance will be provided for these holiday classes.

Students interested in the April Courses may want to consider attending the Year 12 Leadership Seminar which will run at the same time. We may be able to arrange attending both programs.
